Beacon's B.A.B.E Store

Changing Lives, Inspiring Hope

BHF

Tashiana Leeks is a single mother of two children who not only finds supplies at the Beds And Britches Etc. (B.A.B.E) Store, but also finds hope.

The B.A.B.E. program helps mothers like Tashiana earn coupons to get essential items for their children by going to appointments or classes offered at more than 40 agencies throughout our community. She says the classes have helped her understand how to breastfeed and cook healthy foods for her family. Tashiana, who is pre-diabetic, also learned how to become healthier without relying on medications.

"Without B.A.B.E., I wouldn't know half of the things I know about mothering," she says.

She also loves the classes. "I'm not from South Bend. I'm from Chicago, they didn't have these programs. Here I'm starting to meet new moms and build relationships."

"Beacon's B.A.B.E. program isn't just about collecting coupons in exchange for items. Our bigger goal is to promote healthy pregnancies and lower the infant mortality rate.

But on the day-to-day we just want to help make parenting easier. So whether you are in need of diapers, a coat, or a hug, you can find it at a B.A.B.E. Store," says Kathleen Kraner, Program Coordinator, and second mother figure to many.

B.A.B.E. is funded through your generous gifts to Beacon Health Foundation and Beacon Health System. Your support helps more than 2,000 families to be healthier, happier and safer every year.

B.A.B.E. Stores are located at:

- 325 North Lafayette Blvd., South Bend, IN
- 1400 Hudson St., Elkhart, IN
- And in Marshall County, B.A.B.E. pop-up shops are being planned throughout the community.

B.A.B.E. Drive

BHF

For Valentine's Day, Beacon Associates and our community showed some love for B.A.B.E by holding a donation drive. The response was overwhelming. A huge thank-you to all who donated to help families in need in our community.

Your support made a pediatric neurosurgery program possible.

The new home for Beacon Children's Hospital is bringing new specialists and programs to help more kids, right here at home.

Meet Dr. Daniel Fulkerson

Pediatric Neurosurgeon, Beacon Children's Hospital

Dr. Daniel Fulkerson came to Beacon Children's Hospital for a simple reason. He came to help kids.

"I get a lot more emotionally invested in kids," says Fulkerson, one of four pediatric neurosurgeons in the state of Indiana and the only one outside Indianapolis.

Fulkerson grew up in Warsaw and graduated from the University of Notre Dame's engineering program before going to the Indiana University School of Medicine. While there, he became fascinated with neurology. "The brain is just a lot more interesting than the colon," he says.

He served in the U.S. Air Force and had a practice in Indianapolis, but came to South Bend to pioneer a needed program. When children get sick, they need care that is close and available. "The need is here," he says.

Beacon Children's Hospital excels at trauma and we are expanding our work in pediatric trauma.

Because of you, we are able handle most pediatric neurosurgery needs, but building the capacity takes time and effort. This means training, recruiting, education and philanthropy are the keys to the continued growth of this program.

Bud Smith

Smallest Neurosurgery Patient at Beacon Children's Hospital

Bud Smith was born prematurely in a Michigan City hospital. With bleeding in his brain, a risk when babies are born so early, Bud was transported to Beacon Children's Hospital.

Beacon's NICU team determined he needed surgery. In the past, Bud and his family would have been transferred to a far away hospital for such a procedure.

Bud would be Dr. Daniel Fulkerson's first patient, and Beacon's smallest neurosurgery patient ever.

Bud was brittle at 29 weeks gestation and he weighed less than two pounds. Before surgery, Dr. Fulkerson held meetings with clinicians to discuss the operation. It would require special surgical instruments and other adjustments and changes.

Today Bud is healthy and happy.

"He's done great since the surgery," said Dr. Fulkerson. "Time often matters in these cases, so handling a case four hours sooner rather than taking an additional helicopter ride is a big deal."

Laura Smith, Bud's mom, is thankful Dr. Fulkerson could perform the surgery at Beacon. "The nurses became my family after a while, and they took such great care of Bud," she said.

The Oasis Room

A Space for Associates to Recharge at Elkhart General Hospital

EGH

In December, an open house was held for the Oasis Room at Elkhart General Hospital. This space, formerly known as the Courtyard, has been remodeled as a place for Associates to step away from what can often be very stressful work. Funded through a generous gift from the Elkhart General Hospital Auxiliary and friends of the late Elkhart General Hospital President, Greg Losasso, this peaceful space offers massage chairs, SADD lights to chase away the winter blues, and light reading materials among other relaxing items. This space gives Associates the ability to manage the stress of their work, decompress and recharge so that they can provide the best care for our patients and their families.

THE OASIS

*Made possible by the generosity of the Elkhart General Hospital
Auxiliary, and the friends and family who honored and celebrated the life of Greg Losasso.*

“Beyond the Stethoscope”

Healing Opportunities at Memorial Hospital

MH

The Memorial Regional Cancer Center is the only resource in our region with a Complementary Services Program offering “beyond the stethoscope” healing opportunities. These services include massage, yoga, acupuncture and restorative fitness, and are offered at little to no cost to cancer patients and survivors.

The Complementary Services Program is funded through the generosity of Beacon’s Associate Giving Program, GEM, and generous donations from our community.

Each year, more than 650 people are diagnosed with, and treated for, cancer at Memorial.

Philanthropy helps to ensure that these services, which are not covered by insurance, are always available for every person who needs them.

This year, Memorial will open a Palliative Care Clinic which specializes in pain management and end of life care, led by Dr. Nicholas Kerr.

By 2020, the Complementary Services Program will be expanded to Elkhart General Hospital.

“Flaherty Food Fights”

The University of Notre Dame's Flaherty Hall held a new signature event last month, “Flaherty Food Fights.” The event, a cooking tournament, concluded with a competition between a team from North Dining Hall (NDH) and another from South Dining Hall (SDH), all in support of Beacon Children's Hospital.

“It's like the show ‘Chopped’ on Food Network,” Theresa Rogers, sophomore signature event commissioner, said. “Every dorm got one team, and then competed in a tournament-style cooking competition in the dining halls. So, as in ‘Chopped,’ you get a mystery ingredient, and you have to incorporate it into a cohesive dish.”

A panel of judges tasted the dishes and ranked them on creativity, presentation and taste.

The winning team got Insomnia Cookies at their dorm's next hall council and a trophy placed in the dining hall.

“It's super new, so this year we're really focusing on getting participation up,” Rogers said. “That way, in subsequent years, we can raise more and more money for Beacon because they're a really good charity that we enjoy working with.”

Flaherty Food Fights raised $1,800 to support Beacon Children's Hospital. We are so grateful to the students and the university for their dedication to helping kids in our community!

Welcome Community Hospital of Bremen!

Last year, we excitedly welcomed the Community Hospital of Bremen to the Beacon family. This 24-bed hospital serves Bremen and the surrounding communities with exceptional and compassionate healthcare.

"This really was a natural fit for us, and absolutely the best option for patients," said David Bailey, President of Community Hospital of Bremen. "As part of Beacon Health System, our community will have even greater access to convenient, high-quality healthcare."

*A special thank you to Community Hospital of Bremen Foundation friends.
Please know that it wouldn't be possible to have come this far without your kindness and generosity. We look forward to getting to know you and working together over the coming years to support
